MINUTE ENTRY

The Court has now had the opportunity to review counsel for Petitioner's advice to the Court regarding non-compliance with the Court order dated October 7, 2003. The Court has reviewed the Response and the Reply and has determined that the obligation due and owing to Attorney Thomas Novak is, apparently, one that was not, in fact, discharged in bankruptcy and is due and owing to counsel. The agreement, as noted by Attorney Novak, was a stipulation signed by him and Respondent thus obligating Respondent to make payments on the amounts to counsel directly. Therefore,

IT IS ORDERED that Respondent shall immediately contact Attorney Novak's office and make arrangements for payment on the obligation, the Court to be copied with any correspondence between the parties agreeing to a repayment plan. In the absence thereof, the Court will have to consider additional sanctions if requested. However, the Court may be limited in the options available pursuant to the holding in Proffit v. Proffit, 105 Ariz. 222 (1969). Moreover, counsel may submit a judgment to the Court for signature for registration and enforcement as any other judgment under the law.

All parties representing themselves must keep the Court updated with address change. A form may be downloaded @ www.superiorcourt.maricopa.gov, self-service link.
